Avalanche Awareness Class

Do you like adventuring in the mountain snow? Join us to learn about winter backcountry dangers, avalanche risk management techniques, and the use of safety and rescue equipment such as an avalanche transceiver, probe, and shovel. This workshop is a prerequisite for Ice Axe Skills Workshops and Mount St. Helens/Mount Adams Summit Climbs. $5 per person, 1800-2100. Register at MyFFR407012-20.

Introduction to Mountaineering

This workshop covers the foundational mountaineering skill of using an ice axe, and it is a prerequisite for the snowy Mount St. Helens/Mount Adams Summit Climbs later in the year. You'll learn the basics of snow travel, get hands-on in evaluating avalanche risk, and practice preventing and arresting a fall on snow using an ice axe without the aid of ropes or a belay system. $10 per person, 1600-2100, class at NSE transportation provided. Register at MyFFR402200-04.
